This year's Crossroads Conference was busting at the seams! Over 400 (compared to 250 last year) Senior and Junior college students came to hear Christ-centered ways to invest their careers for eternal impact. Today's college students are hungry to hear the wisdom of those who have walked with Jesus before them. Pray for them as they make decisions in the next year that will set the course for their careers.

Over 700 college students came down to San Diego for our annual Winter Conference. Together they heard solid Gospel teaching, participated in worship, and attended seminars to equip them for ministry in their student context. Along with them, we packed 100,000 meals to feed the homeless and needy in SoCal. They also took steps of faith together to engage their Facebook friends in spiritual conversation. It was "4 Days, For Change, Forever"!

Summer 2014! Weaved around and throughout these conferences, Becky and I worked hard to determine summer mission project assignments for each of our 220 staff and interns. Good news! About 95% of them have an official summer assignment! Many will lead students on stateside and international projects like Santa Monica, San Diego, Puerto Rico, the Middle East, and South Africa. Some will equip teams to go overseas. Some will take required seminary courses. It's a fun but complex puzzle to figure out. We certainly sense God's hand guiding throughout the whole process. Thanks for your prayers!

Speaking of next summer, what are the Slamers doing next summer? Well, we're glad you asked. We're excited to report that for the next TWO summers, Scott will co-direct the Santa Monica Summer Project, (SMSP)! We're tremendously excited because we love being a part of summer projects. We know the Lord uses them to change students lives and equip them for a lifetime of ministry. One component to leading a US Summer Project, is attending the Summer Project Directors Training conference in Denver, CO. Becky and I were there January 9-12, meeting with Scott's co-director and the rest of our lead team, to begin praying and planning for the summer. Tons of student applications are already pouring in! Pray especially for men to apply this Winter.

Please pray also for: January through early April we evaluate applications for one-year internships with us and Stints overseas. We normally process about 140 applications! Pray we handle each application with care, and for Godly wisdom in each decision and for the Lord to raise up more laborers!

Thank you for your partnership that is making it possible for students to be equipped to walk with and be used by Jesus for a lifetime! Scott & Becky
